Week End Guests at Dinner Given Afterward at Lynx Hall.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 21 .- New York and Lakewood society was well represented at the entertainment which Mrs. Jasper Lynch gave this evening at the Laurel in the Pines. It was the gayest of the season. The large ballroom was crowded to capacity. The affair attracted growded to capacity. The affair attracted practically every sojourner here.

The programme, directed by Mrs. Lynch, included numbers by socially prominent amateurs, many of them from New York. The costuming was one of the notable features of the evening, and the tableaux wivants were the prettiest ever shown here.

Mrs. Edward C. Anderson of New York was one of the striking characters in the living pictures. She portrayed Queen Isabelia in the "Return of Columbus." Mrs. Girad Romaine, Miss Edith Sam-Mrs. Girad Romaine, Miss Edith. Samson and Miss Agnes Davis in the "Three Washington.

The Misses Adele and Trilby Grenet of New York as Pierot and Pierette were very dainty and pretty, and Mrs. George Douglas Clews of East Orange as the "Spirit of the Forest" was a graceful figure. "Phantasle de Fleur" by Miss Adele Grenet was another striking number on the programme. Miss Margaret Shippen Lynch and James Vail Converse were notably successful in an original dance, "The Riding Lesson." Miss Louise Foster Lynch as "The Queen of the Force" furnished the comic touch to the programme. Bishop Livyd Officiates at Daughter's Wedding in Calvary Church.

The wedding of Miss Rebecca Lloyd, daughter of the Right Rev. Bishop Arthur, S. Lloyd and "s. Lloyd, to Gavin Hadden of this city took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Calvary Church. Only relatives and a few intimate friends were present. The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride. Assisted by the Rev. Theodore N. Sedgwick, rector of the church.

The bride entered the church with her brother, John Lloyd, who gave her away. She wore a pearl embroidered gown of white satin trimmed with point lace. Her well of tulle, fastened by a wreath of orange blossoms, fell over a long court train and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the Valley. Miss Margaret Strong was the maid of honor. Mr. Hoffman, it was said, had been leading the advocates of American work-manship.

The Rev. Dr. A. J. Cummins, pastor of Christ Church of Poughkeepsie, has taken a positive stand for the American product. "Since American money pays for memorial windows and other stained glass work, it is right and proper that American artists and workmen should be favoran artists and worken should be favoran artists and worken should be favoran artists. work, it is right and proper that American artists and workmen should be favored." said Dr. Cummins. "There is no good reason why the church in this country should defer so strongly to British institutions. We ought to be patriotic enough to place in our great cathedral workmanship of our own artists and artisans. American stained glass is as acceptable as the stained glass is as acceptable as the stained glass. England tisans. American stained glass is as acceptable as the stained glass of England. What happened in the case of the White-law Reid window points the argument. The glass had to be doctored up in New York and the work was done, I believe, by Ralph Adams Cram.

"The Chronicle, the monthly magazine of the Protestant Engenel Church is Ac-of the Protestant Episcopal Church, is de-fending the cause of American stained glass workers, and is preparing to print a series of articles on the subject." Bishop David H. Greer is among those who are understood to favor English made glass on account of superiority of

The matinee concert of the Boston Symphony Orchestra yesterday at Carnegie Hall was attended by a typical audience which seemed to be much interested in the first two numbers and somewhat at a loss to know just what to make of the final one. The programme was wholly orchestral. The three compositions were Reethoven's fifth symphony. Richard Strauss's tone poem. "Death and Transfiguration," and Liszt's cinating in his comments, declared tha "Hungaria" was a masterpiece. Doubt-less those to whom the name of Liszt is holy will agree with the eminent conductor. But nevertheless the scoffers will continue to scoff. To them this composi-tion, like several others of Liszt's, is an empty and meaningless repetition of phrases without special significance or beauty in themselves. The piece is admirably instrumented and should furnish further support, if any were needed, for the contention that Liszt contributed Anton Witek, for a gypsy cadenza played in true spirit. The Bee-thoven symphony was performed with immense vigor and incleiveness of style, but without question there were mo-ments when the balance of the orchestra was destroyed by the preponderance of the brass.
